

A top-down view of a dark, woven bamboo tray containing several spa ingredients. In the top left is a large yellow bowl filled with a vibrant red liquid. To its right are two small green bowls: one containing a dark, thick liquid and the other containing sliced green citrus fruit. Below the red bowl is a large yellow bowl filled with a thick, white, foamy substance. To the right of this bowl is another small green bowl containing a light green liquid. In the bottom right corner, a white and yellow plumeria flower is partially visible. At the bottom center is a large yellow bowl containing a smooth, white cream. The bottom left corner shows the edge of another yellow bowl.
